

MEDIA ADVISORY: National Security and Foreign Policy Series with 2024 GOP Presidential Candidates featuring Senator Tim Scott, hosted by Georgetown University Institute of Politics and Public Service and The Associated Press

WHAT: Georgetown's Institute of Politics and Public Service (GU Politics) at the McCourt School of Public Policy and The Associated Press will host the second speaker in a national security and foreign policy series with Republican presidential candidates. The second installment of the series will feature Senator, and Republican presidential candidate, Tim Scott in a conversation moderated by AP national politics reporter Meg Kinnard.

The conversation series features one-on-one discussions with the candidates, with each conversation offering young voters the opportunity to ask the candidates about issues of national and global importance. The time will be split evenly between a moderated discussion by Kinnard and a live Q&A from students.

Along with live audience questions from students at Georgetown, the event will include remote participation from university students at campuses in early primary states who will have the opportunity to ask the candidate questions through pre-recorded video. Campus partners include Clemson University, Iowa State University and University of New Hampshire.

WHO:

- Senator Tim Scott (R-S.C.) is a Republican Senator from South Carolina, currently running for President in the GOP Primary.
- Meg Kinnard is a national politics reporter for The Associated Press. She currently lives in South Carolina.
